GEORGIA HERITAGE ROOM PROGRAMS

ONGOING

TY COBB'S AUGUSTA LIFE AND BASEBALL CAREER

On display in the Georgia Heritage room from October to December 2017 will be a unique collection of items relating to Augusta native Ty Cobb and his amazing baseball career. Once more, Mr. Lamar Garrard shares his collection with us along with Mr. Milledge Murray to showcase Ty Cobb's life here in Augusta.

Mr. Gerrard is a native of Augusta and a graduate of Richmond Academy and Georgia Southern University grad became interested in baseball while attending Augusta Tiger baseball games as a youth with his father. He writes a weekly baseball column for 3 CSRA newspapers and writes columns for the COLUMBIA COUNTY MAGAZINES.

His passion is baseball history, especially the era of WWII and Augusta Baseball History. He gives baseball talks at local civic clubs, universities, and church groups. Mr. Garrard met the great Ty Cobb in 1957 at "Ty Cobb Night" at Jennings Stadium in Augusta.

Come and see something as "American as baseball and apple pie"!

OCTOBER 2017

Wednesday, October 18 @ 2pm

Searching for Surnames:
Challenges, Pitfalls and the
Downright Ridiculous— A
Legacy Family Tree Webinar

With increased indexing and transcription of records, often linked to digitized images on free and commercial websites, searching for an individual or collecting references to everyone holding a particular surname is much easier now, isn't it?

Using a variety of sites to try to discover details about those elusive ancestors, creative searching is a must and this webinar will uncover some of the investigative methods needed as well as the more challenging transcriptions the genealogist has to work with, whilst still being enormously grateful that they are available to us online! Seating is limited so please call (706)826-1511 to reserve your spot!

NOVEMBER 2017

Wednesday, November 15 @ 2pm
Brick Walls: Cracking the Case of Nathan Brown's Parents—A Legacy Family Tree Webinar At some point or another, every family researcher runs into that dreaded "brick wall". Join Marian Pierre-Louis as she cracks the long-standing brick wall surrounding Nathan Brown's parents (Geoff Rasmussen's brick wall). Marian will share the analysis process she used to find Nathan's parents. Certain techniques, which you can apply to your own research, can be used to unravel difficult genealogical problems. Follow that up with primary documents to confirm the relationships and the mystery is solved. At the end Marian will reveal a big surprise about Geoff Rasmussen's ancestry based on this new information. Seating is limited so please call (706)826-1511 to reserve your spot!

DECEMBER 2017

Wednesday, December 13 @ 2 pm
Home for the Holidays - Tips for Collecting Family History—A Legacy Family Tree Webinar Get the family photos out of shoe boxes or from the back of the closet...it is a perfect time for grandparents to get the next generation involved. Start your children or grandchildren on a lifelong journey by telling your story and introducing them to family history. And don't forget you can easily add Aunt Betty's recipes to the family cookbook. Students love these when they go off to college and they also make great wedding gifts. You will learn how to recognize and capture those great pieces from family history. Seating is limited so please call (706)826-1511 to reserve your spot!
