The premiere and encore presentation were notable in Augusta, first because it was the sight of the world premiere of a significant film and second because there were local people, like Emily Remington and Richard Symms involved in its production. This commemoration of the premiere was doubly special by the attendance of Christine Costner Sizemore, the real "Eve"

The ground-breaking psychiatric work behind the recovery of Christine Sizemore was overseen and written on by Doctors Corbett H. Thigpen and Hervey M. Cleckley both attached to the Medical College of Georgia as professors and psychologists.
